Additional Compensation

As an investment adviser representative of PCIA, Neill Currie Yelverton may indirectly receive additional benefits when certain product sponsors provide PCIA with economic benefits as a result of PCIA's or its investment advisor representatives' recommendation or sale of the product sponsors' investments. Such economic benefits received by PCIA from product sponsors can include but are not limited to, approved financial assistance with or the sponsorship of meetings and client events, marketing support, approved reimbursement or payment of travel expenses, and tools to assist PCIA and its investment advisor representatives in providing various services to clients. Although PCIA and its investment advisor representatives endeavor at all times to put the interest of their clients ahead of their own interests or those of the firm's officers, directors, or representatives ("affiliated persons"), these arrangements present a conflict of interest and can affect the judgment of PCIA and of those investment advisor representatives that materially benefited from such arrangements when recommending investment products. We attempt to control for this conflict by always basing investment decisions on the individual needs of our clients and by providing disclosure to our clients. Please note Neill Currie Yelverton does not individually solicit additional benefits from product sponsors.
